Hello Kelly.

I want to clarify that I am not opposed in concept to re-use of properly treated and tested wastewater and/or sewage sludge/biosolids if applied at agronomic rates in appropriate locations. The issues I've raised relate to proper assurances of appropriate location, treatment and regulation of the practice in this instance. Properly done they can reduce waste and adverse impacts to surface water, both in terms of waste loading and reduction of withdrawals for agricultural use. My comments are directed to those concerns.

Stay safe, be well, Norm Peck
