Hi Pat,

Sorry you have missed me at my desk. We have been swamped with phone calls and people at the counter the past two days. I have received a number of additional comments but have not had a chance to review or bundle them up yet. I will do that as soon as possible early next week and get everything sent out to you and Dayna. The comment period ends at 5pm today.

Lindsey

I have tried to call you a few times today but since you can not call me back, as I am out of the country, I thought I would just drop you and email and ask if there is anything out of the ordinary ... please let me know ... thanks .. Pat
